She was and is still a great singer. It's so painful to hear that somebody must die so soon and so young. But she must be beautiful, I'm sure of that. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever" That I've written for someone like her. She will live forever in my heart bye bye

Bonjour, avant aujourd'hui, je ne connaissais pas Eva Cassidy. Je m'amusais à comparer les différentes versions du thème "somewhere over the rainbow" que j'adore. Et c'est ainsi que j'ai découvert la version d'Eva Cassidy et là, ça a été le choc! L'émotion m'a submergé tellement c'est beau et alors que je vous écrit, je ne peux m'empêcher de pleurer en écoutant sa version. Je n'ai jamais rien ressenti de tel en écoutant une chanson! Eva, tu as un talent énorme et tu me bouleverse. Tu fais d'ormais partie de ma vie.

I was gifted with "Songbird" this month for my birthday and have not been able to stop listening to it. I remember reading about Eva in the Bowie Blade News. I had just been diagnosed with Melanoma, and she and another young man had both lost their fight with the disease. I am so thankful that she was able to leave such a beautiful legacy for her family & friends and for those of us just getting to know her. Her voice is that of an angel.

I've already bought several cds for me, family & friends, as well as her book. How fortunate we were to have her, even for a short while, and how wonderful it is that she left us her music! I consider it a preview of what we will experience in Heaven!! God Bless, Deb

I just discovered Eva on BBC radio as I just moved to Ireland last month(March - 06) from Brazil. I couldn't believe my ears as to her perfect voice and guitar on ' Over the rainbow'. I'll now collect all of her work in due time.I'm a demanding jazz perfectionist,especially when it comes to voice and indeed I became a true and complete fan.I,like many, also lightly wept when I knew of her already having passed on because of someone so beautifully talented not among us more. Nevertheless,if only the good die young,the musically best never do. Thank God for the eternal Eva Cassidy.

I had never heard of Eva before this past Friday April 21,2006. It was my birthday. I was feeling very down since my beautiful daughter Annie was on my mind. My daughter passed away at the age of 24 February24,2005 of a rare bone cancer. I always called her my "rainbow" girl so when I see rainbows now or hear songs I think they are messages from her. I turned on the radio and Eva's song "Somewhere Over The Rainbow" was playing It was the most beautiful version I had ever heard and I thought"Oh my God my baby sent me a birthday prresent." Next I looked up Eva on the internet and found out that your precious child and dear sister also had died of cancer. My heart cries out to you and I am praying for you along with the rest of my family. Your daghter left behind a beautiful legacy as did mine. My girl was such an amazing humanitarian. She was volunteering for UNICEF before she was 13.She too had a wonderful singing voice. How she loved to sing. I would like to think that she met your daughter in heaven and had her send me "Somewhere Over The Rainbow" on my birthday. Actually, I do believe it's true. Please chck out our website.www.anniesconnection.com Sending peace ,prayers, love, and hope your way. Nancy Weber and family

My family has just found out about Eva recently from a friend of my daughter's. We lost our 16 yr. old grandson Scott (her son) on June 1st, 2004 in a car accident and it's ironic that Eva sings "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" because that song has become one of our favorites since the day that he died, there was a double rainbow and everyone thinks it was from Scott who was sending us a message that he was okay in heaven. When we heard Eva sing it, we cried because it was so beautiful. She had the most beautiful voice and we are saddened that she is also gone. We love her music. Also one of my favorite songs is Imagine which is also ironic that it is also a song that she sings. I know that they are both looking down on us from Heaven. God bless.

I discovered Eva Cassidy's music while my husband and I was listening to the car radio last Jan. 2006 when we went back to England. He's elder sister died and we were so sad driving that day on the way to their place. The song was IMAGINE... I clicked one of the highlighted lines here where it says, "What a wonderful world", and I was having "goosebumps" and some tears were rolling on my cheeks while I listened to her singing... May her soul rest in peace! She's singing among the angels in heaven...

I'm 52 years old and sadly, only just discovered Eva's music after hearing just a small bit of her singing "...you take my breath away" on the Dallas, TX PBS station. Her voice haunted me for 4 days and I left the Television on that PBS station until I could catch it again. I drove my friends nuts, and it drove me crazy until I searched the internet using just that phrase. I bought her CD "Wonderful World" and I can't wait until I can get others. I was raised with music in the house all my life, and everyone in our family has some musical ability. We'd gather and sing for many hours until we got hoarse. I play the piano by ear... Thus, I consider my ear quite spoiled. I found 4 of her paintings that I absolutely love and plan to get prints when--if-- they are available. After all my years of searching for music that allowed me to exhale....I found, at last, my very favorite. Thank you for allowing her music to continue. I cannot put into words how beautiful I think her voice is. And , hey, I have a degree in English. Still, I have no words. I just exhale. Cindy Phillips Kaufman, Texas

I sing also, and during a recording session recently, someone compared my voice to Eva's. I can only say, that was an incredible compliment. I know so little about Eva Cassidy apart from a recording of 'Over the Rainbow' which I used to play over and over again whilst driving in my car. It always made me cry, so beautiful is her voice and the sentiment behind the lyrics, even more poignant now I have learnt that she tragically died at such a young age. I hadn't been aware that she was no longer with us until I saw an article on TV this evening promoting a play about Eva's life which is playing at a local theatre. This prompted me to do a search for more information which brought me to this website.

You know, sometimes the distinction between life and afterlife is blurred. Is it possible for the beauty in a painting to die? I don't think so. Life is like a garden, full of beautiful flowers that bloom but also pass in time and give rise to future generations of beauty. Therefore, is it not the case that Eva lives forever through the beauty that she brought to our lives and the fact that that beauty will be shared for eternity. x

I love Eva Cassidy, I just found about her this past Summer and was very sad when I found out she was not among us, but her spirit will live forever. It may be soon 10 years since her death, but her music is fresh, her voice is unique and she will live forever in our hearts.

I don't think I have ever heard a more beautiful voice than Eva's. Eva's music has brought me much comfort over the last two years. (I lost my dad in April 2004) My friend gave me her "Songbird" CD and I had NEVER heard anything like it. My friend just gave me her "Imagine" CD. Eva's voice is like an angel to me - it is so BEAUTIFUL!!!!

I first heard Eva's beautiful voice while on holiday in Hawaii a few years back. I thought that a talent like hers would be 'the next big thing' in the music scene, but sadly found out about her tragic death. Her voice and her artistic talents have touched many people around the world and, as each of us shares it with friends and family - ever expanding her legion of fans - her memory lives on even though she is gone forever. I still get shivers when I listen to her achingly sweet tones and amazing interpretations of favourite melodies. She accomplished much in her short life, and inspires us to live life to the fullest, and make the most of those fleeting opportunities.

MY family has always gave a wide variety to listen to.I am 16 and first heard Eva when i was around 13 when i heard her voice i was amazed that someone could sing such complex songs in such a soothing relaxed way. For a while i waited for her next album to appear but then learnt it never would. she is such an inspiration and i think she has a way of expressing music that no other person has its just sad she never felt that she was good enough and nearly settled as a back up singer. Thank god she didnt or else the world would never of been blessed with such a interpreter.

When I first heard one of Eva Cassidy's songs, I knew I had to find her CDs. They were playing Over the Rainbow on an early show on TV. It was the most beautiful version I had ever heard. I was saddened to learn she had passed on but so thankful that I could purchase some of her music. I have never purchased so many CDs by one artist. I never tire of her music and play it while I am on line. She was so special in so many ways. I am sure she is looking down on us and pleased that she has touched so many lives with her music.

Listening to the radio one night in December 05, whilst working in my garage, I was transfixed by Eva singing 'somewhere over the rainbow'. It was beautiful. I just downed tools and listened. I had never heard of Eva beforehand. Since then, I have been researching her music and it is just captivating. Such a sad loss of a truly lovely young singer.

By the time I discovered Eva's incredible voice, she had been gone for several years. I felt so sad that she left us at such a young age and didn't get a chance to share more of her gift with the world. Her ability to sing any genre of music well is a testimony to her amazing vocal ability. For such a petite person, she sure had a powerful voice. In reading her bio, I found it very refreshing that she was not willing to sell out to the "industry" and be put in a box. No doubt record companies could have done a great job of "packaging" her. I'd like to think that heaven's music sounds so much sweeter since Eva joined the choir!

Then, I found your siteweb, I would know more about her and reading her story make me tears in eyes. Why a so high gift didn't appear in our country. It's very unfair to her. Now, I think I'll buy all her records to fill that gap and delay. She's marvelous. Bob

Like many others, the first time I heard Eva sing, I just stopped and listened. She had an amazing voice. Songs that other artists had performed were quickly replaced by her voice, at least in my mind. Be it jazz, ballads, or blues, Eva could sing anything and make it her own. She was surely a treasure that we all lost much too early.

The other evening my wife took a friend to dinner. On the way "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" came on the radio and an incredibly sweet voice soared and touched us as if she were singing for us alone. We turned to each other excitedly, "Who's that?" I remember commenting that she had the warmth of Karen Carpenter but more emotion and a unique ethereal quality. When the CBC announcer said her name, Eva Cassidy, I committed it to memory and my wife, knowing that I often forget to take my Ginko Biloba, wrote it down. We were amazed that we had never heard of her before. Then we were saddened to learn that this gentle spirit had been taken from this earth so early. Having since googled her name, I was rewarded with a wealth of information on a wonderful gentle spirit. Now we will set about acquiring her recordings.

I have over 2000 songs on my PC and as you can imagine who has time to hear all of them. Three days ago, on Dec. 19, while at home, I let my music program choose at random what to play, and Eva's Stormy Monday came through with such power and allure. Her magical voice brought me out the bedroom and since then she has not left my side. I just read her biography and my heart broke in two when I learned of her passing in '96. When I first listened to Eva's interpretation of Sting's Fields of Gold and her Songbird, I instantly got drawn to her wonderful, fantastic and enthralling voice. Eva's personality, her humble and simple story has earned my greatest respect for her. So much has been said about her life, her work and her music and it is just fitting that people from across around the world give honor to a great artist and friend, that is Eva. I recently came across "The Autumn Leaves" by Eva. It was amazing, so I searched the internet for Eva's biography. I read the one from YOU magazine, August 10, 2003. It was a wonderfully done story, especially the part about her last concert. I found this site about five minutes later, and realized that the last song she sang was on the site. I opened it, thinking it would be interesting to hear it, and I just started bawling when she started to sing. I think that's the most a song has ever affected me, and believe me, I've heard a lot of songs. The part that got me was when she dedicated it to her mom and dad, and how her dad taught her to play guitar. My dad has played guitar for 30 years, and he and I have such a strong bond musically. We play together every time I visit home from school, and I imagined dedicating my last song to my dad. Eva's story just blew me away, and I plan to discover more of her music soon.

The most unmistakable voice that soothes, alarms, lifts and inspires any listener within the words and notes of the track. She had true talent and from what I have read on this website today, immense courage and devotion to her family and friends - personal or professional. All the superlatives, and praise, and comments, made by all those people that came to love Eva's work, either before or after her passing, underline what a special person she was. She was one of the finest vocalists there has ever been, and yet she probably never considered that of herself. She was very special, and that is a serious understatement. I first heard of Eva Cassidy a few years ago when Dateline did a story on her. For weeks after the show, I tried in vain to purchase any of her CDs, they were so in demand after so many people heard her voice for the first time. Then, I heard her beautiful "For You" in the film "Love Actually," & finally purchased "Songbird" just recently, followed by "Time After Time." They of course became immediate favorites. As a would-be/wannabe vocalists, my own meager talents pale in comparison to hers; it was, quite simply, perfect -- absolutely the most splendid voice I have ever heard. Tears & chills, friends. Just a natural, authentic, soulful genius she was. So happy we have some recordings of her, & so very sad she's gone. She was the best of the best.

Sunday night I was on the internet and listening to the radio at the same time. This most beautiful rendition of, Over the Rainbow, came on the radio. I was motionless, spellbound by this beautiful,voice. I didn't hear who the singer was so I called the station. I have since learned about Eva. She is still thrilling people. I've since ordered the CD. Thank you, it's beautiful.

I have only just been introduced to Eva Cassidy within the past 6 months, and its as if my life as a musician has started all over again. Im a student at victoria university in N.Z and for the vocal mid-terms, (where we choose 2 songs to sing and organise our backline independantly) about 6 Eva songs were sung that night. How could i have been missing out on such a pure and real person all my life, whose main purpose is to care and love through song? Fame and glory disregarded!! Eva, it was a shame your were taken from this world so early, for musicians (and non musicians) all around the world (including N.Z) you were an inspiration. It would have been an extreme honour to meet and/or make music with you. To the family, Your mother, wife, daughter, granddaughter, niece, grandmother(?) lives on and on. not only through yourselves, but through her music that is playing everywhere every second. this special lady has definately left an impact on my life. And I thank you for that. Peace and Love.

I "found" Eva this week...Songbird...on Friday. My favorite songs...Know You By Heart and Over the Rainbow. And then today, Sunday, the most amazing, vivid and complete rainbow came up over my farm. I grabbed my cd player still loaded with Songbird (as it will be for some time) and listened and cried and marveled in the beauty of the rainbow and Eva's voice and the hope they both bring. My new motto: Just Live.

while im writing this message in tribute of a beautifull lady, who had the voice of a million angel's, im listening to what a wonderfull world. and i must say that the first time i heard it i had shivers run down my spine....not only did she have a gift that many of us would dream to hold in our hearts. but she seemed to have been such a wonderfull, caring, kind, loving, and gentle person, and most of all, had an amazing outlook on life. for myself, this exquisit human being has given me so much more than a bright and content out look on life, but has gave me a reason to live. im an extremely keen musician, i play guitar and im a vocalist, and this extraudenary person has gave me an insentive to never give up on what you believe in. so from the bottom of my heart and all others around me. i would like to say thankyou eva cassisdy, from all of us. from Jon Hughes.

Every once in a while, you hear a song that just stops you dead in your tracks. Thus was the case with Eva's song "Over the Rainbow". I was at work late one night listening to Smoothjazz.com and they played that song. I immediately went to their playlist to find out who had the voice of an angel and bought the "Songbird" CD the next day. What an incredible and clear voice. And what a shame the best are always taken from us way too soon...

Hallo other Eva-lovers, The first time I heard Eva it was on the radio with either Fields of gold or Songbird. Eva came right into my soul! We immediately bought the CD Songbird and played it over and over again. Later on we bought other CD's and now we have even found the DVD! And then...a few years later...me and my husband decided to give a musical party because we became 50 years old during that year. We chose and rehearsed songs with a special meaning or memory: ballads, rock, etc. (My brother is a professional guitarist and together with my son on drums, his friend on base). I then sang Fields of gold, the song that meant so much to us. My niece (the daughter of the guitarist), who was studying on the conservatorium (singing) sang Autumn Leaves. And after that, our family and friends who hadn't heard from Eva, began to buy her CD's. You know, as when you throw a stone into the water, it makes a lot of circles. And when my son left our home to live on his own, he sent us a selfmade CD with special songs to thank us and the title of his CD was: "My fields of gold"..... And he has told me that when he is going to marry with his girlfriend I have to sing "Fields of gold" again. I like to send my message as a tribute to Eva, who has such a pure wonderful voice ánd playes her guitar so beautifully. Many times I haved cried when I heard her singing, because she touches the soul.

I first heard of Eva Cassidy on a TV documentary, to which I did not pay much attention to. Recently I got a chance to listen to her song Fields of Gold which a friend of mine had. I was deeply touched by the beautiful clear voice that I heard. I can honestly say her voice is one of the best I've heard in a long time. Reading through her biographies I can also sense that she was an emotionally deep person and caring and simple. I'm definitely going out to find a couple of her CD's.

Eva cassidys voice is so amazing and moving, i luv her song fields of gold every time i hear it i cry it reminds me of all those who have passed away in the recent terrorist attacks in london, i feel for the familys of the victims and all the pain they must be going through. This song epecially reminds me of Eva who was so talented and it was such a tragedy to have lost someone who has the voice of an angel. In the end she passed on but she was very brave to hang in ther and try and fight the cancer and it is amazing how she sang for the last tim in public when she was so weak and ill, it really moved me inside when i read about that. Always remeber, Angels often step in, do good and dissappear. You are sadly missed Eva but we can still hear your faint voice of an angel singing off somewhere in the distance xxx

Just want to tell you how inspiring it is to read this entire web site. I already had "Call Off The Search" CD by Katie Melua and have talked to people about it. Also, just discovered another wonderful female vocalist in the Philadelphia area (my hometown) whose name is Melody Gardot. She had to record her CD in her bedroom, as she had been in a very bad car accident and evidently is still mending. Check her out. She has a web site. Writes her stuff also and it is awesome!!! I want to say (as I am a massage therapist), that the feeling and the energy I picked up just reading through this web site was heart warming and overwhelming. You are all so lucky to have had that energy in your life - the wonderful spirit of the creative!!!! Someone who struggles because the world is not as they see and feel it, but energizes the environment with the feeling from within. That wonderful free spirit!!! And so she is. Hey, i discoverd Eva Cassidy's music (new) just two days ago on a party. One of my friends said, ok i'll turn on "The Best Song of the World". It was one of Evas. We listened to her music for the rest of the night, and talked about her. So i came to this page! Thank's a lot to the family for sharing so many memories with us! This is so great and gives Eva the possibility to live on. May the Lord keep watch over you! Rici.

In "MANHATTAN", Woody Allen mentions his list, of the things he feels make life worth living. Cezanne, Charlie Parker, The streets of Montmartre, the face of Mariel Hemingway, the smell of freshly cut grass. The voice of Eva Cassidy should be on that list.

Her voice blows me away. I first heard it two weeks ago today on a Canadian Broadcasting Corp. programmed called "Hot Air" - and it took all of two days before I was able to get out to buy "Songbird" . I love it and have to ration the listening time of the CD so that it is still a treat every time I listen. She was one special young lady and the world owes her a debt of gratitude. Blessings from Canada to her family and friends.

I first heard Eva on the radio. Jonathan Schwartz, who has his own radio program on weekends and who is also an expert on Frank Sinatra plays eva alot. I first heard "Over the Rainbow" and was taken by the interpretation. I thought that nobody could sing it as well as Judy Garland. But Eva took it and made it all her own-as if it was just written for her. I then hear "Bridge Over Troubled Waters" and decided I wanted to hear more. I now own all her CDs.

I am so grateful to Eva's parents. They gave the world one of the most wonderful people, with one of the most naturally beautiful and versatile voices I've ever heard. I recently lost a brother to the same illness as Eva, who I miss so much. He was also a talented musician and while ever I've got Eva's music to listen to, Kev will never be far away. Probably the most poignant of Eva's recordings for me is, " Who Knows Where The Time Goes". When you look back at the time you've spent with a loved one, you don't realise just how short that time was. But while I no longer have the luxury of the "physical" Kev, as long as I have memories of him, he's well and truly alive and that song is of great comfort to me. The same goes for Eva, but in a different way. Most of her fans, like me, never knew her, but we're lucky to have her albums, that contain her beautiful voice and musical talents to remind us of her. Heaven's gain, is our loss. Eternal Thanks Eva. Your Biggest Fan. Jim Yesterday my son hired a DVD - Love Actually - I love music, play the piano, can distinguish a good voice from the many good around. I could not resist seeking to find who was that singer that could trace and track so perfectly and smoothly up and loud without effort and bring it down again so smoothly and tenderly to a perfect smooth end. How said I was when, the first thing I read on the net, was that you died at such an early age, but - "its all right..... for the song birds....will keep singing your songand we will love you and love you and love you like never before..." I did not know Eva, but her sister is married to my cousin and I see them frequently. She gave me a copy of a television transcript - a piece on Eva, and I had already been listening to the cd she gave me. My favorite is Fields of Gold, for sure, and Over the Rainbow reminds me of my mom who passed in May, so its a natural favorite, and her rendition is captivating. After seeing the transcript, I wanted to see what was on the web about her, more of what others thought. This site mentions that her sister has contributed, so I felt compelled to leave a message here. I think that her voice is absolutely incredible, and am happy to have known of her.

Woww!!!! I only wished that I had the opportunity to see and hear her before her passing. A friend "hipped" me to Eva Cassidy back in 1999. I purchased her CD at Blues Alley and quickly became addicted. It is so awesome to know that she was from around my neck of the woods. I grew up and attended grammar and junior high in Prince George's County Maryland and high school at Duke Ellington School of the Arts in Washington,DC. Being the "funky eclectic" that I am, I'm also an avid go-go music lover, I LOVE Chuck Brown and the genre of go-go-music among all others. To know that she worked with Chuck is a definite plus in my book. I only hope that Eva Cassidy's music will continue to inspire better appreciation for true musicianship and demand better quality of music from the music industry at large. Jazz on Eva..... indeed a kindred spirit! Sherice

I live outside Philadelphia, but I had to travel to all the way to France to discover Eva. This past December (2004), I was visiting friends in Chapet, a tiny village outside Paris. Paul said, "You have to hear this voice," and played Eva's "Wonderful World" for me. It was just as described at the end of her bio. I had to stop what I was doing, listen, and -- as soon as I returned home -- search out and buy every Eva Cassidy CD I could find. In a few weeks I had to replace them because I gave them all away as Christmas gifts. I'm still giving them away and replacing them. Today, in fact, I'm meeting an old friend for lunch. She'll be getting my latest copy of "Songbird." Yesterday, February 2, was my son's 19th birthday. Today I discovered this website, and learned that James shares a birthday with Eva. In one of those lovely bits of synchronicity that life sometimes provides, it happens that James' passion is singing. He has a gorgeous voice, but he doesn't play an instrument. My birthday gift to him was a guitar. From now on, when I celebrate James' birthday, I'll also remember Eva. I'm writing this because I want Eva's family and friends to know that her legacy is growing. All the best, Janet

My Mum is the really big Eva fan, but one time she played one of her cd's, "Wonderful World" in the car. I thought she was really good!!!! My favourite songs are Kathy's Song and Waly Waly and I plan to perform one of them at my school assembly. So it's dedicated to her. I'm sure she's at rest now and in peace, as she should be. So thanks to Eva, wherever she is now for sharing her beautiful voice with me.

I found Eva's music quite by chance one day. I was sitting in a mountain cottage owned by a show business friend, going through a few CD's he had lying around. Instantly i knew I was listening to something special. It is very seldom I can listen to an entire album on the first play, but with this one I was hooked. Reading more about Eva has given me more of an insight to her music and musical sensitivity. Never again will I be able to listen to Fields of Gold without a lump in my throat and tears in my eyes. It takes something really special to move me, Eva did it with no effort. I would have loved the chance to meet her. Who knows, maybe one day I will... In the fields of gold.

I've just recently discovered Eva Cassidy's recordings. When I first heard her I commented that her voice was "haunting, but like an angel". I had no idea she had died when I said this. I marvel at her talent. She is the purest singer I've heard since Joan Baez. I have to think that artists such as Sarah McClachlan must have been influenced by her.

I wish I could have seen her in concert, I am sure that would have been a memory I would always cherish! I have since bought a couple of her albums, and am going to read her book next! Such talent, musical and artistic! I am sure she has inspired several artists and we never grow tired of listening to her sing! This website is so beautiful and such a befitting tribute to a lovely young lady who was taken upstairs for reasons which are not ours to question. The passing of time somehow seems to make the lost voice shine even brighter, if that is logically possible to understand. Everyone is influenced by someone in life, however, no singer of such beauty has a repeat. One must listen and learn and install patience and a belief. Then the gene of reincarnation resurfaces in another part of the world and the spirit beats on. Regards Gletto www.songswhenyourwinning.co.uk

I've done what everyone who's been captured by Eva's work has done: listened, then gone out and bought more, listened more, and bought more, until there's nothing more to buy. I love her voice, I love the emotion attaching to her voice and her songs and I am devastated to have learnt of her only long after her passing. Hers was one of a selection of songs on the soundtrack for the movie, "Love Actually." My partner, friends and myself are astounded by the ethereal beauty of her voice when she sings "Songbird." Music touches peoples lives in many ways. For some, music is in the background playing in the car or at work. For others, music is more of a way to reach feelings not accessible without it. Some artists have the unique "gift" of being able to touch even the deepest feelings and bring them to the surface. Eva Cassidy was one such artist. No matter how many times I hear "I know you by heart" I get choked up inside. Very few artists have the ability to touch you like Eva did. Thats the definition of a true artist.

To the family of Eva Cassidy, Just a while ago I had a chance to view your website on this beloved gill and am unable to hear the wonderful voice that she had in he short life, only due to not having speakers for my computer! after reading this storey I was so impressed with the way she fulfilled her dreams and hope others follow in her lead. I personally did not know her but my self am a singer of jazz music and a dear frind when we talked told me of a singer she once heard only once and felt her voice was angelic,she insisted I somehow look her up on the internet so I to can enjoy her work so here I am I see a face and that's it I am disappointed and would love to hear her, can you tell me where I can buy a cd. In my Jazz project as a last song selection I am doing wonderful world, I was shocked for I never new of the song at all and one day I fell upon it from a biography of louie Armstrong....how ironic. I look forward to see if you did recieve my e-mail. Just another Jazz singer!

often, the last couple years, people come up after a performance and tell me i remind them of the singer eva cassidy. being a fully overwhelmed single mom self supporting singer/guitarist it seems i'm always just living on the edge of a thousand pressing needs and finally got time to research who this artist is. well, thankyou, the story has left me in quiet tears and a renewed need to keep singing...for me, for eva...and to believe that the song lives on.... thankyou teri garrison

I just want to say THANK YOU to the parents and family of EVA CASSIDY. Tragically, my Father and Grandmother died 3 weeks apart last October 2003. My birthday is also in October, consequently I buried my Father the day before my birthday. I am an only child and am not married with no children of my own. A friend of mine, sensing my grief and despair gave me "Songbird". Hearing those beautiful words and melodies brought tears to my eyes. Tears I needed to share to grieve the loss of my beloved Father. Tears I still shed when I hear her beautiful voice. She gives me chills when I listen to her songs and her voice is Angelic. My Father died unexpectedly. He was not sick and was only 65. He died alone in the house I grew up in and was there for 3 days before he was found....by me. I recently purchased "Live at Blues Alley". Bridge Over Troubled Waters renders me catatonic as I listen to it. God Bless you and your family for allowing so many people to "share" what was and still is your beautiful daughter. I tell everyone about Eva Cassidy and if they have never heard her music, I give them a CD so they too can become a devoted fan.

Eva has the voice of an angel, there is not one day that passes where i don't listen to her. Her music has touched me and inspired me on so many levels and for this i am eternally grateful. I am often reduced to tears, her voice just seems to glide over me, like silk touching the skin. She was an amazing artist and her talents will always live on. I am only 15 years old and when i was younger i referred to her version of Somewhere Over The Rainbow as the 'song that made my eyes water'. too young to realise i was overcome with emotion at the sound of her beautiful voice. Eva was the reason i started playing the guitar and singing, i owe so much to her, her songs have helped me through tough times. When listening to her I feel as if i know her...i think everybody does, she sang with such emotion and i pray that she is in heaven singing with the angels, looking down on us all. She will live on forever in our hearts Thankyou Eva, God Bless. x x x x x

My daughter who is 8, loves Eva's songs...I'm truly, well, there is no words for how we feel., this is so hard to write because, we can feel the sorrow of losing her, it is just the most unbearable of grief and loss and sadness that a person can feel....and we feel your grief and sadness...our tears are consuming us and it's hard to console when our grief is as great and we were but strangers...and when an angel has gone to heaven it affects us all...thank you for sharing..and may we all be lucky to to meet her some day...your very gracious hosts of her life...and you've done well....Nancy and shyann

I discovered Eva Cassidy's music just this year and I must say that I can not seem to get through many of her songs without feeling moved to tears. Her voice is one of the most beautiful i have ever heard. I didn't learn until later than she had passed away and it just makes her music that more special. I am sure she is greatly missed by her family and friends. How tragic to lose someone with such a remarkable talent...and for me, how fortunate I am to have found her music. I will revere her as one of my favorite artists for the rest of my days. Eva, rest in peace

Eva and I shared a few things I just discovered. I came from a musical family, I am a musician and singer. I had a level 4 melanoma in 1978, and am still melanoma free as of 11-1-2004. I was recently diagnosed with CML Leukemia (Chronic Myelogenous Leukemia) and am undergoing chemo therapy. Eva's music touched me and my daughter who sings in a band with me. Our band is an all-female acoustic Americana band from the Portland, OR/Vancouver, WA USA area. Our band is called Misty River. Our 3rd CD has a song sung by my daughter. The song is Simon and Garfunkel's "Kathy's Song". Eva's voice and style inspired my daughter to do the song in her own style. It seems that beautiful young singer/songwriter/musicians like Kate Wolfe (who died of CML Leukemia at an early age) and Eva Cassidy will join the chorus of angels for others in heaven to enjoy.

I'm just listening to Eva's music for the first time & it's beautiful. It's especially poignant for me because I lost my wife to malignant melanoma last month (september). Like Eva, my wife Lisa was a very beautiful woman and she made each day wonderful just by being there. She was just 34. Also like Eva, Lisa's cancer was diagnosed far too late. I had to watch helplessly as my reason for living wasted away before me & then died in my arms. Six weeks on I am a shadow of a man, totally destroyed & lost, every day a long & tortuous hell for me. I'm not religious but I really do hope there is a Heaven. I would love to believe that my lovely Lisa was up there smiling down on me, swaying gently as nearby Eva played guitar & sang one of her beautiful songs. I find Eva's music both pleasant & uplifting, yet immensely sad at the same time. Her songs are like the photographs & memories that I have of Lisa; they are wonderful to have & to share but are also so very disheartening as they serve to remind one of the finality of the situation. There should be so much more to follow & to discover yet there will only ever be an endless void. Thus is the legacy of cancer. Why have I written all this? Who knows! I'll listen & cry some more and then it will be just another day to face. With love xxx

I am writing this note to all fellow Eva Cassidy fans. We lost our daughter, Katie, to cancer just two years ago, family and friends joined together to form a charity in her memory, Katie's Concerts. The charity supports young people who wish to become involved in performing live music, at the same time we have raised over £22,000 for Cancer Research UK. We recently held an Eva Cassidy tribute night and in the progress unearthed a truly remarkable talent. Please take the time to listen to the samples on our website and let me know what you think, I am really interested to receive the thoughts of true Eva Cassidy fans. If you enjoy Melissa's music please pass it on to a friend, the more hits we receive on the website the more we raise for charity! Thank you, thanks Eva Graham Katie's Concerts

Ich wollte ursprünglich einen Blick auf diese Seite werfen, um einen eventuellen Konzerttermin von Eva Cassidy in Berlin zu finden. Umso geschockter war ich, als ich lesen musste, dass sie tot ist. Aber das bin ich eigentlich immer, wenn mich etwas beruehrt und ich erkennen muss, dass sich die Quelle meiner Inspiration nicht mehr mit mir weiterentwickeln kann. Nichtsdestotrotz hoffe ich, dass noch viele Menschen in den Genuss kommen sich von Evas Musik bezaubern zu lassen. Und bewusst sage ich - von Evas Musik und nicht bloß von ihrer Stimme, denn erst das Zusammenspiel mit der Gitarre (die sie ja selbst spielt) macht ihre Musik so einzigartig, dass man auf diese Seite kommen und etwas zu ihr ins Gästebuch schreiben möchte...

A shiver ran through my spine and I asked who was this amazing voice. Eva Cassidy he said and she is dead as well. I was shocked and horrified as he told me how terribly young she was. I bought a CD yesterday "Songbird" and it makes me cry! You are such lucky parents to have had in your lives such a wonderful daughter who, still after her death gives so much pleasure to so many. I asked the clerk who that person was, she told me and then I asked if it was possible to buy the CD, which it was and I did. My young 20 year daughter, who is a singer and dancer on mtv, heard Eva and said "Mom, that is the only voice I would ever want to sing with". Unfortunately we discovered that that would be impossible. I work away from home and was unable to attend the funeral of my cousin. I knew her very well when we were growing up but as the years passed we drifted apart. After hearing of her passing I deeply regretted not going out of my way to get to know her better than I did, and now it's too late, she's gone forever. My mother told me about the service and about the music they played at her funeral - Over The Rainbow by Eva Cassidy - whom my cousin adored. Of course I knew the song but the name of the singer meant nothing to me. Before I left Liverpool to return to my work abroad my mum had bought me two of Eva's CDs. From the moment I heard her sing I knew this was a very special person, someone who could communicate more than just a song, someone who could interpret & style a song and transform it into a work of art, to be cherished - and wow, what an incredible voice. I realised, through Eva's music, that my cousin & I would have had a lot in common, yet through Eva's music I now feel I've finally got closer to her. People Get Ready, I know You By Heart, Time Is A Healer & Tall Trees In Georgia are all stunning as are all of her songs and I shudder to think what dizzy heights Eva would have reached had she not been taken from us so tragically, and so soon, 'to a land where troubles melt like lemon drops' God bless you Eva, God bless your family, and God bless my beautiful cousin, Diane.

I heard Eva Cassidy for the first time today. I was driving home with my son from a visit to out of town relatives. The local "easy listening for the older generation"(which I rarely listen to)station was playing dedications and this one caught my attention. It was from grandparents to their grandson and I was curious to hear what was requested. It was "Somewhere Over the Rainbow". It brought tears to my eyes. This voice was so beautiful and pure. I was hoping the announcer would tell us the artists name at the end and thank goodness he did. As soon as I got home I had to search for Eva Cassidy on the internet. I am now off to purchase her music and am so glad I discovered her!

I lost my beautiful daughter to cancer last August 1, at the age of 29. She was also artistic and was a good singer as well. She was in plays and recorded a few songs during her time at Old Mill High School. I have a box in which I keep my memories from her growing up. She had just started to Georgetown Law School when she was diagnosed. My doctor told me about Eva and I have enjoyed reading about your lovely daughter. I know your pain, and you have my sympathy.

She honestly has the most incredible voice I have ever heard in my lifetime. We danced to her version of "Time After Time" as well, and after hearing that song, I just had to buy her cd. My best firends daughter Eve passed on the same year as Eva at the same tender age of 33. Eva has left us the beauty and depth of her wonderful voice, a vibrational resonance that speaks to the soul and she is with us in our hearts and minds and the wonderful memories of her. Eve came to me on the night of her passing and said, "Do not look for me in your sorrow and despair, for you will not find me there. Look for me in your joy and laughter, for I am there forever after". And so it is with Eva.

Eva Cassidy was first brought to my attention a few months ago by a friend and neighbour with melanoma. I was blown away by her voice and interpretation of "Over the Rainbow". I'm sure my friends are sick of me raving about her voice and forcing them to listen to the odd track or two over a Sunday lunch! I was in a CD store recently enquiring after other Eva Cassidy

CDS other than "SONGBIRD" and, in the process, was reunited with a college acquaintance from 22 years ago! I'm a classical cellist and have been enjoying listening to female vocalists very much lately and have been so excited by the experience of hearing Eva's voice.

Ever since I heard her sing I cannot understand how so many people in her own town could not realise that here was a voice in a decade probably without peer. She was just unbelievable and without doubt the best I have ever heard at whatever she sang. An icon without doubt - it makes you wonder what she would have achieved with proper recognition when she was alive.

I first heard Eva 2 years ago while driving to a gig. I can still recall the moment she came on the radio, it was as if there and then I was transported to her "field's of gold". I immediately pulled over my car and stopped to close my eyes and truly enjoy the amazing expierence that was and still is Eva. It was only after buying her cd that I realised that Eva was no longer with us and it added such poyiancy to her already amazing gift. In my humble opinion, the amazing Eva was amongst us for a brief momentin time, but her music will contiune to touch us for eternity..

I have been a professional musician and singer my entire life. I am and have been the bass singer with the 50's group, The Four Aces, for 30 yrs. I first heard Eva's voice a week ago ... and that was by accident, while listening to a local jazz station. Since I had never heard of her before, I went online and looked for her using KaZaa and Google. After listening to her and reading about her, I feel as though I have lost a great friend ... and yet I know this is not possible! It is the power and pure emotion and sensitivity of her voice and style that has so completely overwhelmed and captivated me. I will be forever mesmerized by her and her talent. The world lost more than it will ever know. With my deepest respect, regret and admiration Harry R. Heisler

I'm a very big Heather Nova fan for years and I never heard any female singer come so close and be so good with such an excellent voice as Eva. I was shocked when i, just now, foud out she passed away in 1996. I wanted to see her in concert.. damn...

I just happened to see a TV program late in the evening on Jan. 1st, 2004 of a replay of a special progam featuring Eva Cassidy, whom I never had heard of. Throughout the program were clips being played of "Over the Rainbow" from the CD "Songbird". Her singing brought tears to my eyes, and still does. The next day I purchased the Songbird CD. What a beautiful pure voice to bring such joy into the world. Even though she's here in spirit, her music lives on within those who listen to her music. I plan to purchase many more of CD's. I do hope they do not wear out. Thank you Eva.

Unbelievably, I've just recently heard of (by name) Ms. Cassidy from the Love Actually soundtrack, and like this website says, I stopped and listened and got goosebumps from her most beautiful voice. As a professional singer, she is the voice I most would like to emulate. She is extraordinary and I was so upset to hear of her early death. She is someone I would've liked to have seen to show her my appreciation of her talent, but instead I will pay my tribute by treasuring her voice during my lifetime.

I heard Eva the first time about 4 years ago during a pauze, in a smalltown cafe where I was performing myself. Funny, I never liked taking professional lessons myself, I prefer a personal/honest sound. And there she was, out of the blue as my personal coach. I never found someone who understood the pure sound of the soul, and Eva will be an inspiration for many of us. I'm very grateful to have found someone who interpreates lyrics/melody in a way I do myself. There's not enough attention in the world for a 'simple'song. It's all about making money from artist, also in Holland. Anyway thank you for this beautif site of an angel. P.S. I would like to know how I could by this beautiful book about Eva. When my two sisters were here last summer, they spoke of a singer that was very popular in Norway, our home country. Her name was Eva Cassidy. Tom & I had never heard of her, so we asked if she was British. My sisters assure me she was American, but had died and after she died became very popular in Norway. Yesterday I got a package from my sister Liv, and there was a copy of "Songbird" among other things. I didn't play it until this morning on my way to work..... I had tears in my eyes as I drove into the parking lot. God.....how could you take her away from us, and why didn't anybody here in America make her the star she deserved to be when she was alive!!!!

My sister-in-law gave us 2 of Eva's CDs and I have played them repeatedly. I was astonished to realize how moved I was by her version of "Danny Boy". I cry every time. And I always thought it was just a hokey song to be sung off key by drunks! I look forward to making a similar discovery about "Over the Rainbow". I went online to see whether we could see her in concert. I was so disappointed to learn that I won't have that opportunity. What a tragic loss.

Eva, I know you're no longer with us, but then you are, in my heart anyways, each time I hear your beautiful voice, something unexplainable happens, I feel your presence.

As I sit listening to Eva's beautiful rendition of "Wonderful World", I may have tears in my eyes, but I also have a smile on my face. May God Bless you Eva as you have blessed us with your soulful and inspirational personal and musical legacy.
